

DFW GLITTERATI WELCOME NEW PCC CONSUL

StarWatch DFW, HNN, DFW, CAS

Sunday night saw the biggest stars of the Lone Star State gather at a gala event hosted by the Pueblo Corporate Council. The exclusive event - covered exclusively by StarWatch - was to welcome the new head of the PCC's consulate in Texas, Euna Humytah. Ms. Humytah is replacing the outgoing consul (and serious hunk of yum) Makyah Cheveyo - I for one am going to miss him!

Some of the area's hottest designers were on hand to deck out their favorite stars! Ms. Humytah was wearing a custom gown from PCC's megastar Len, and let me tell you, I may need to change my preferences on Swipe after seeing her smoking her way down the red carpet! Woof! Click here for our exclusive gallery, as always with IDs, ratings and commentary by the ladies of GoFugYourself!

- > Ghost, that's a lot exclamation points.
- > Foxdale
- > Exclusive exclamation points!!!1!!!
- > MEESA
- > Syphon (pic 37) has risen in the world, it would appear. I would not have expected to see her escorted by someone like Monroe. His tastes tend to the more glamorous, according to the society pages. Perhaps she was working?
- > Raven
- > Wait, that's Syphon?
- > Dinari
- > I believe so. The years have been kinder to her than most in her profession. Then again, her talents were always...troublingly elusive.
- > Raven
- > Pot? This is Kettle...
- > Foxdale
- > Exclusive! Goth arm candy!!!!one!!!
- > MEESA
- > Not to intrude upon such riveting gossip, ladies, but does anybody believe the line about why Cheveyo was recalled?
- > Youarebeingliedto
- > Of course not. Largely because I know who planted the evidence for the cover story. Wasn't me - I was the one who arranged for the PCC to need a cover story in the first place. I'm not sure why someone went through all that trouble. A red-mist haircut would have been cheaper.

SHEDIM ACTIVITY DECLINE CONTINUES

Horizon Awakened Data Services, Atlanta, CAS

Shedim activity has declined for the sixth straight year, according to the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta. Their annual survey, released this week, shows that shedim activity was down 6% in 2079 from the previous year. "While there are individual hotspots, notably in portions of the Middle East, the global trend is clear," said Dr. Amy Fitzgerald, head of the Awakened Infectious Diseases directorate in a press conference earlier today. "At the current rate, we can expect to relax or guidance on corpse containment by 2085."

The notorious spirits first appeared in 2061, emerging from the rift that marked the spot of President Dunkelzahn's assassination. Labelled as "shedim" (from the Hebrew for "the dead") for their ability to inhabit corpses, they became a significant hazard in morgues and graveyards around the world. The CDC's Corpse Containment Protocols significantly reduced the level of shedim activity, but have been expensive to maintain.

- > Ah, the CCP - a great way to pay the bills during lean times. But I'd rather not have to ward any more graveyards, thank you very much.
- > Foxdale

Ever since the the Watergate Rift was closed in 2073, the level of shedim activity has been in steady decline. According to some occult experts, the shedim first arrived through that rift. Persistent rumors that more powerful shedim were creating more rifts have not been confirmed.

- > Fraggers. Couldn't be buggered to mention that the founder of the New Islamic Jihad was a shedim. PC police can't say anything bad about muslims though, or someone might get their turban in a twist.

- > ...or Spinrad Global has been shoveling ¥¥¥ by the bucketload at Horizon to try and clean up Global Sandstorm's image. The NIJ isn't exactly something that Sandstorm has ever wanted to talk about. And it's not like the Caliphate were big fans of Ibn Eisa...even before they killed him. The first time. It ain't political correctness, it's business!
- > (In)sanity
- > I don't buy this for one fragging minute. If the creepy bastards have gone quiet, it's because they are up to something. All the stupid zombies got geeked ages ago - the ones that are left are smart. And when you're dead, you plan for the long term. This is going to bite us in the keister some day.
- > SithDog2057
- > I ain't saying you're wrong. But I really hope you're wrong. Because the last thing we need are more crazy sociopaths intent on spreading death and destruction.
