

MAYOR THANKS MILLSAP SHERIFF, AFL "HEROES" AT RALLY FOR FALLEN

NewsWire, DFW, CAS

In a rousing speech to a crowd of nearly 20,000, Mayor Tovar thanked those involved in foiling Thursday's attempted bio-terror attack. Video of today's rally in Weatherford can be found here.

The event was originally slated as a memorial service and prayer vigil, organized by the DFW Interfaith Council. After a moment of silence for the more than 100 people that died during the attacks, Mayor Tovar took the podium. He quickly shifted the tone from somber, to one of celebration.

- > Good old Joe. That man can't stop campaigning. Even at a funeral.

"While we can and should mourn our losses, we must also consider what might have been. What these terrorists tried to do. What they wanted to do. The wounds they hoped to inflict upon us. And how little they achieved. They thought that DFW was weak. They thought that we weren't prepared. They thought they could cripple us. They thought that they could wound us. They thought to spread terror and fear. And did they? No. No they did not. Instead they learned what we really are. They learned that we won't tolerate such hatred. That we will come together in the face of evil. They thought to make victims, instead, they revealed heroes."

- > Laying it on a bit thick, Joe.
- > SithDog2057
- > Watch the video - it's a pretty dang good speech, even by Joe's standards.
- > Whitehat

The DFW Mayor specifically called out the sheriff of Millsap, outside of the metroplex, thanking Sheriff McKenzie for "the decisive action they took to foil these attacks that saved countless lives." He also thanked the volunteers of the Aztlan Freedom League (AFL), who were the first to respond to the attacks, foiling many: "And to the wonderful people of AFL - your dedication, your generosity, your heroism - are all shining examples of what makes this city great. We mourn your fallen colleagues, but celebrate what they stand for."

- > "...just don't ask us to do anything for your cause."

DEATH TOLL FROM BIO-TERROR ATTACK RISES

FoxNews, DFW, CAS

With the passing of Muriel Tongo this morning at Crash-Cart-Baylor, the death toll from Thursday's terror attack has now reached 173. According to sources with Crashcart, she is likely to be the last fatality.

- > Factoring in the SINless, the death toll is a good two times the official number. At least. But without an ID, they don't count as people.
- > Nocrimo

- > Considering how many could have died, that's an impressively small number. Cholera is some nasty drek. Hats off to whoever stopped them. And I hope that the drekheads who planned this enjoy their toasty rooms in hell.
- > Foxdale
- > It does take a special kind of crazy to put MS-13 on the side of the angels.
- > MEESA
- > At least CC and DW (and what's left of the AFL, poor bastards) have been treating SINless for cholera at the field hospitals they've setup in Weatherford. Not because of any generosity on DW's and CC's part - Elmore let them (and Gaeatronics) know that the city would consider a secondary outbreak as violation of their contracts.

- > Most of the casualties from the attacks came from the detonation of at least 4 truck bombs, and 3 suicide-vests, or during confrontations with the terrorists attempting to spread cholera bacteria. Only 11 have died from cholera, due to the effectiveness of treatment and the rapid response of the city's medical providers.
- > Got a buddy at DocWagon, and they started scrambling a good thirty minutes before the bombs started going off. Somebody (thank Ghost) had a security breach.
- > Whitehat
- > The pictures out of Millsap are pretty impressive. I've run into their sheriff before...glad I didn't hack her off.
- > Ain't Tellin'
- > Wasn't her, or her "posse" - they showed up after the shooting started.
- > Youarebeingliedto
- > Any word on the attackers? I've seen the usual drivel about Alamos 20k, but nothing credible. Even those Humanis fraggers have been quiet about it.
- > Whitehat
- > LoneStar's been investigating a group called the Concerned Citizens of North Texas. Group had a website until about a year ago - a bunch of nitwits with a bug up their hoop about SINless "diverting educational resources". Investigation started yesterday, so the 'Star ain't got much. And they had zero clues this was coming.
- > Techm0nkey
- > Apparently Elmore, the Dallas City Council Rep, has been on a rampage about this. Tovar's been letting her take care of the response and investigation. The LoneStar liaison officer came out of that meeting with a new orifice. I'd hate to be on their negotiation team when their contract comes up next year.
